

NUNATSIAQ NEWS

Reporter (two positions)

Locations: Nunavut and Ottawa

We are looking for a skilled interviewer with a strong writing and reporting background, who pays close attention to detail and deadlines. The job requires a combination of hard-news writing (city hall, crime, and court) as well as feature writing and profile writing. You are self-reliant and adaptable and used to working in a fast-paced multimedia environment of print, web and social media. Strong photography skills and social-media savvy are assets.

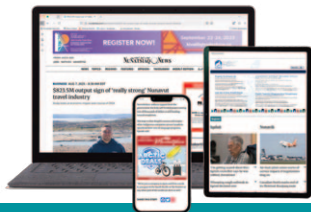

The ideal candidate would understand the North — particularly Nunavut — the northern way of life, traditions and institutions. Because our coverage area is multilingual, the ability to speak an Inuktitut would be considered an asset. Experience covering courts, police and breaking news are also assets.

Flexibility for the right candidate in terms of start date, working remotely and working from home.

Applicants from all Nunavut communities are encouraged to apply.

Remote candidates will also be considered.

Salary commensurate with experience.

Please send resumes and writing samples to:

Corey Larocque, Managing Editor coreyl@nunatsiaq.com